

my life and takes me back full circle. I also love that I get to know my clients when they share a little piece of their life for these drawings. The best part is that I've finally started to create them as large works of art. They are totally free and natural to me and I'm really really excited for this new series. It's amazing how easy something come to you when it is effortless and fun to create."

Francisco is also currently having a blast with his gallery where his wife Brooke, new son Oliverio and dog, Salvador Doggie all come to the gallery to work. We decided that we wanted to add our favorite artists to our gallery as well as my work where they showcase many amazing artists from around the world. "Not everyone is going to like my work, so why limit our gallery to just my art when there are so many talented artists around the world. Brooke and I make sure to bring in art that we both absolutely love. It's really very fun engaging with all this talent in all these countries. Adaro Art is a life long project that we really enjoy hopefully is something we can grow and pass along to Oliverio one day."
